

IEA SPEAKER BROCHURE 2021

Staff, fellows and authors at the Institute of Economic Affairs are always keen to comment in print, online and on the airwaves.

Whether you're a journalist looking for a background briefing from one of our staff or would like a quote or to interview someone, please contact:

Emily Carver (Head of Media):
ecarver@iea.org.uk
07715 942 731 (24hours).

Mark Littlewood

Director General, @MarkJLittlewood

Mark is Director General of the Institute of Economic Affairs and our Ralph Harris Fellow. Mark is recognised as a powerful, engaging and articulate spokesperson for free markets.

He is a regular guest on flagship political programmes, having appeared on the BBC's Question Time, Any Questions, Politics Live, Radio 4's Today programme, Newsnight, in addition to Channel 4 News, and Sky News. He writes a bi-weekly column for The Times.

He specialises on a range of topics including tax and spend, deficit reduction, regulation and government intervention, business and industrial strategy, devolution (including Scottish Independence), free trade and more.

Mark sits on the Board of Big Brother Watch, a non-profit organisation fighting for the protection of privacy and civil liberties in the UK.

Prior to joining the IEA, Mark served as Head of Media for the Liberal Democrats.

Syed Kamall

Academic & Research Director, @SyedKamall

Syed is the IEA's Academic and Research Director and Professor of International Relations at St Mary's University.

From May 2005 to June 2019, he was a Conservative MEP for London. Syed was leader of the European Conservatives and Reformists Group and worked to promote open trade, tech startups and better financial regulation, following the last financial crisis.

He specialises on a range of topics including trade, the European Union, poverty, entrepreneurship, post-communist economics, privatisation, liberalisation and foreign investment.

Annabel Denham

Director of Communications, @AnnabelDenham1

Annabel Denham is Director of Communications at the IEA. She was previously Deputy Comment Editor at City AM, Associate Director at The Entrepreneurs Network and Coordinator of two APPGs.

Annabel comments on an array of issues across the media. Her preferred topics are the labour market, the gender pay gap, the feminist movement and education/childcare.

She writes regularly for The Telegraph, City AM and has previously written for The Times and The Spectator. Annabel has appeared on BBC Politics Live, Sky News, Times Radio and talkRADIO, among others.

Christopher Snowden

Head of Lifestyle Economics, @CJSnowdon

Christopher is the IEA's Head of Lifestyle Economics, focusing on research into pleasure, prohibition, and dodgy statistics.

He is the author of works including Killjoys, The Art of Suppression, The Spirit Level Delusion, Crack Cocaine of Gambling, and Free Market Solutions in Health.

Christopher appears regularly in the media, including appearances on BBC broadcast, Sky News, Channel 4 News, LBC, ITV, and talkRADIO. Christopher has written for The Telegraph, The Times, The Sun and The Spectator.

Chris specialises on a range of topics, including paternalism, the nanny state, sin taxes, Happiness Studies and inequality.

Julian Jessop

Economics Fellow, @julianHjessop

Julian is an Economics Fellow at the IEA, having previously served as the IEA's Chief Economist.

He has over thirty years of experience in the public sector, City and consultancy, including senior positions at HM Treasury, HSBC, and Standard Chartered Bank.

He has appeared on Sky News, BBC Radio 5 Live, and BBC Radio 4's PM programme, among others.

Victoria Hewson

Head of Regulatory Affairs, @MissVHewson

Victoria is the IEA's Head of Regulatory Affairs and Research Associate.

Victoria was formerly Senior Counsel for the IEA's International Trade and Competition Unit.

Her preferred topics are regulation in the technological and financial services, international trade and competition, and the impact of Brexit on the movement of goods and the Irish border.

She has appeared on BBC News, Sky News, Channel 4 News, BBC Newsnight, and LBC.

Richard Wellings

Deputy Research Director & Head of Transport, @RichardWellings

Richard is Deputy Research Director and Head of Transport at the IEA.

He has a PhD from the London School of Economics on transport and environmental policy and is the author of several papers, books and reports including Without Delay: Getting Britain's Railways Moving and The High-Speed Gravy Train.

He specialises in all transport related issues including HS2, rail nationalisation/privatisation, airport expansion and roads.

He has appeared on BBC News, Sky News, BBC Radio 5 Live, the Jeremy Vine show, LBC, and several other outlets including local radio.

Emma Revell

Head of Public Affairs, @emmamrevell

Emma is Head of Public Affairs at the IEA. She previously worked at Senior Communications Officer at the Centre for Policy Studies.

Prior to working in Westminster she worked in social care, providing community-based support for adults with mental health and substance abuse issues and learning disabilities.

Emma has particular interest in nationalisation, the regeneration of the North, mental health provisions, and housing and homelessness.

Emma has appeared on BBC News, Sky News, and talkRADIO, and has written for The Telegraph, and City A.M.

Emily Carver

Head of Media, @carveremily

Emily is Head of Media at the IEA, having previously worked as a policy adviser to a Conservative MP.

Emily comments on an array of issues, including free market economics, socialism, free speech, environmental issues, culture and feminism.

She has appeared on Sky News, BBC Radio 5 Live, Times Radio, LBC and talkRADIO.

Professor Len Shackleton

Editorial and Research Fellow

Len is an Editorial and Research Fellow at the IEA and Professor of Economics at the University of Buckingham.

Len specialises in all issues relating to the labour market, including inequality, childcare and immigration.

He also covers Higher Education, the economics of football and Artificial Intelligence.

He has appeared on Sky News, BBC Newsnight and BBC Radio 5 Live, among others.